

Infant massage

The Association of Infant Massage (IAIM) is the UK's leading authority on infant massage and promotes the benefits of nurturing touch and touch communication.

Touch is a very powerful element in human bonding and physical attention, cuddles and massage have a positive effect on a child's development, health and well-being right into adulthood.

The IAIM UK provides professionals and parents with advice, education and training in nurturing touch and communication through different styles and techniques.

